In my intensive research on speech perception, I have created an environment without language. A kind of linguistic cleanroom. In the end, I have parted with any kind of writing.

I was able to acquire duplicates of my high school diploma and diploma last year.

Unfortunately, there are no longer any certificates of my work at Siemens. Upon request, I was able to obtain employment contracts and the delegation contract at the central HR department in Berlin.

The book "Vapor Phase Soldering", which I wrote, is commercially available.

I have created a list of references from my time at Siemens. I add these to the documents.
